To whom it may concern,

I, Jeffery Wyatt , Owner of Marche Bacchus restaurant and wine store would like to write this letter today to fully endorse Kevin Landino as an exemplary employee of our establishment. He has been with our company for almost two years and is a key employee in our business.

Kevin has sat down with us and explained in detail what has happened in his past regarding his felony conviction. He explained that he wrongfully took money that was not his and has fully admitted to his fault. He explained that when he was the General Manager of Buffalo Wild Wings he took money that was not his and was convicted of a felony for his actions. Even though he has been convicted of this crime we have full faith in his ability to do his job above and beyond. We have entrusted him as an employee of our business and realize that good people do bad things. We are willing to look past this as he has completely shown his loyalty and trustworthiness to us.

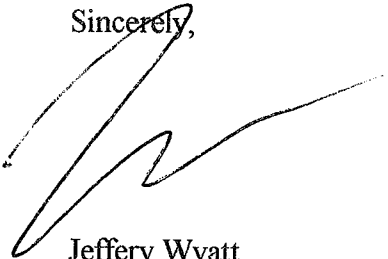

Kevin is a husband and a father of three that needs this job not only to support his family but to continue to pay restitution to the owners of Buffalo Wild Wings.

We would like to request that his denial of a Sherriff's non-gaming card be overturned. We feel that he is a vital part of our business and he is completely remorseful for his actions.

So please take this time to take into consideration the reversal of his denial of his Sherriff's non-gaming work card.

Any further information needed will be made available upon request.

Sincerely,

Jeffery Wyatt
Owner
Marche Bacchus
